

Faculty Fellowships 2022/2023

Institute for Advanced Study at Central European University

Call for Applications

Deadline for Application: 1st of March 2022

Location: CEU's Budapest campus

The Institute for Advanced Study at CEU (IAS CEU) is pleased to announce its annual special CEU Faculty Fellowship (CFF) for the academic year of 2022-23. The Institute seeks to welcome one senior or advanced junior faculty member, preferably for the Winter semester, offering the participation in the Institute's academic and social life and time and space to withdraw for the duration of one term from some of the usual departmental routine and teaching. IAS CEU, like similar institutions, invites outstanding scholars from all over the world to pursue their own research in relative peace for extended periods of time. At the same time, the Institute aims to build a lively, multidisciplinary intellectual community, which encourages new perspectives of inquiry and scholarship.

CEU Faculty Fellows will be able to spend time on their research and writing projects alongside an international cohort of Fellows. In turn, CEU Faculty Fellows are encouraged to build synergies and intellectual engagements with the Institute, their department and the University at large.

As all other IAS Fellowships, the CFF is a full residency fellowship. CF Fellows participate in the weekly Wednesday Fellows' seminar and lunch, and join in other academic, intellectual and social activities of the Institute. The Institute offers CF fellows an office on CEU's Budapest Campus where IAS is located and for non-Budapest residents accommodation in the Raoul Wallenberg Guesthouse.

For CEU faculty considering application, there are two options available:

- a) a stay during regular sabbatical leave, or
- b) a 4-credit teaching reduction during term time with residency in Budapest. In this case, please note that applicants must obtain the endorsement of their department heads. Please turn to the Director of IAS if you would like to discuss your potential application.

The short Fall semester at IAS CEU runs from 1 October, 2022 to December 31, 2022; the long Winter semester runs from 3 January to June 30, 2023; the short Winter semester to March 30, 2023.

How to apply?

Please submit the following material through email to Agnes Bendik (bendikag@ceu.edu):

1. An application letter which should state why an affiliation with IAS and a reduced teaching load are of interest
2. A brief (max. 5 pages) description of the research project and designating the preferred term of affiliation
3. A recent CV
4. A brief endorsement from the head of your department (only if your leave is not your regular sabbatical leave) to be sent directly to Agnes Bendik at bendikag@ceu.edu or included with your application

Eligibility: Full-time, permanent CEU faculty, who have been in residence at the CEU for at least 2 full academic years are eligible for the fellowship. Senior faculty or advanced junior faculty may apply. We define „advanced junior” as those who have held academic appointments after their PhD for at least 3 years, with at least two of these at CEU.

Deadline: March 1st, 2022. Applicants will be selected according to IAS selection procedures. Successful candidates will be informed in late March 2022.

If you have questions related to academic matters, please contact the Director of IAS, Karl Hall at HallK@ceu.edu